Open'er Music Festival

Gdynia it is a town at the Polish coast, close to Sopot and Gdansk. Every July, thousands of young people go there to participate in the annual music festival, known as Heineken Open'er Festival. I went last summer there with a group of friends and we had a fantastic time.

There is many types of tickets available, including Standard, Group, and VIP. We elected the Standard, which covered 4 days' accomodation in tents and one free meal a day. The better way to get there from England is to flight to Gdansk. From there you can take a bus or a train to get to the site.

It is a really dope event I recommend to go to all music fans. If you want to know when does the next year's festival take place, check their website.
