

Julia, your mother. She doesn't need another scarf or a bottle of perfume.

John, your father. Hard to say whether he has any hobbies.

Mitch, your brother. He travels for work a lot.

Joe, your unmarried uncle. He reads a lot but claims he doesn't have space for any more books at home.

Sara, your sister-in-law. She is a stay-at-home mother and already has plenty of cooking gadgets.

Tim and Tom, your twin nephews. They literally owe every latest toy and computer game on the market.

Martha, your grandmother. Last year you got her a sweater and you never saw her wear it.
